SIXTH ANNUAL REPORT OF THE NATIONAL COMMITTEE FOR THE PREVEN- TION OF BLINDNESS

MANAGING DIRECTOR'S REPORT

ANNUAL MEETING, DECEMBER 2, 1920

There comes a time in the operations of an army when it is the function of the general to consolidate positions. It is a time of no outstanding and tremendous movement, but is none the less an important part of the strategy of war. The activities of the sixth year of the National Committee for the Prevention of Blindness might very appropriately be characterized as consolidating our positions. Recognition of the importance and effective character of our work is greater today and it is because of the faithful and earnest work of the members of this staff that we have won our position of commanding influence.

Conservation of vision classes in the public schools are growing in number, as educators have discovered through the efforts of our Committee that it is practicable to open such classes even in cities smaller than the largest. The present census of such classes is 62, of which number 12 have been established within the year. So far as known the states which now support such classes include Illinois, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania and Washington. There is no more hopeful part of our work than this and we are proud to have contributed a considerable part to the establishment of these classes.

Eye clinics in the public schools have developed the need for classes for conservation of vision and such clinics are being opened in various cities. They are greatly needed everywhere and as much in rural sections as in urban, and indeed they are more needed in the small villages and country districts.

Wood alcohol poisoning occupied in the public mind a place of unusual importance when a year ago at Christmas time large numbers of persons lost their lives or became blind through drinking this substance masquerading as a familiar stimulant. This condition was not a surprise to us and we had issued a warning which was used throughout the United States. Much activity resulted because of the newspaper accounts of the dreadful situation and considerable has been done toward eliminating this cause of needless blindness and death. Fortunately, as it appears to us, death ensues more frequently than permanent blindness from the use of this poison.

Trachoma's victims have been discovered in several states where it was not suspected this scourge could be prevalent. Not fewer than 9 states have during the year initiated or renewed their fight against the spread of trachoma. In Illinois particularly has there been a marshaling of the forces for systematic cooperation in the stamping out of this disease. In all cases it has been the function of this Committee to serve as a helpful agency in this work.

Our usual census of schools for the blind shows that ophthalmia neonatorum holds its place as the chief cause of blindness among children, and the percentage this year is 22.5% as compared with 15.7% of last year of those who have newly entered the residential schools. The percentage is even higher in the public school classes. We have reason to regret this unfortunate relapse. This is the first year but one that has not shown a considerable decrease, but we are quite sure that our figures are more accurate than in the years gone by and possibly some of this increase is due to the greater accuracy of our reports. We must faithfully and persistently pursue our fight against babies' sore eyes and continue to reduce the number of children who need not have been blind.

There has been little new legislation in view of the fact that few legislatures meet in the even numbered years. However, three states, Kentucky, Maryland and Delaware, have improved their laws for the conservation of vision.

SIXTH ANNUAL REPORT OF THE NATIONAL COMMITTEE

Our publications continue to be used in large quantities and new editions are called for frequently. We have added, besides the Annual Report and The News Letter, a six-page popular leaflet entitled, "Trachoma, How to Recognize It and How to Control It." Our secretary's stories have appeared in a number of magazines.

Field work has been carried on for only a portion of the year in view of the fact that the Committee was without a Field Secretary through the resignation of Mr. Berry who has gone into other work. With the middle of the year, however, a new Field Secretary, Mr. George D. Eaton, of Iowa, was employed and he has been giving attention to certain sections of the country where his services have been called for. In addition, the Secretary has done considerable traveling and has presented our cause very effectively and we have availed ourselves of the services of the Superintendent of the Texas School for the Blind for field work in that state.

The work of the New York State Committee for the Prevention of Blindness has been continued under the chairmanship of Mrs. William Adams Brown and its service has been confined chiefly to New York City. There is need for faithful continuance of the service to our cause in this city and state.

We must use every method available for getting our message before the public, and the motion picture seems to be in this day the most widely used means of propaganda as well as amusement. We have, therefore, planned to enter the motion picture field and have under way the production of a film entitled "Saving the Eyes of Youth," which we hope will carry our message in pictures to the remotest sections of the land.

We always maintain the forward looking attitude. It is prospects that are alluring. Success in some features of our work is a spur; for example, we are inspired by the fact that during the year for which this report is made 1,500 new people have shown enough interest in our work to contribute to it; from a charter membership of 65 in 1915 we have advanced to almost 4,000 members and donors. But failures in some features are also a spur; for example, what shall we do when we find, despite all our effort at warning, still wood alcohol is causing blindness and death? Shall we despair of human nature and quit? When ophthalmia neonatorum shows a lamentable increase shall we allow discouragement to perch on our banner? No, we shall faithfully go on with our task and pray that our message may be spoken more widely and more effectively and finally the greatest success must come. We invite all to whom this message may come to share our enthusiasm and our determined optimism.

December 2, 1920.

REPORT OF THE SECRETARY

MR. EDWARD M. VAN CLEVE, Managing Director,
National Committee for the Prevention of Blindness, Inc.

Dear Sir: As Secretary of the National Committee for the Prevention of Blindness, I am happy to submit the following report for the year 1920:

The year 1920 opened most auspiciously, with a brief item in the Buffalo Sanitary Bulletin, published monthly by the Buffalo Department of Health.

"The National Committee for the Prevention of Blindness is beyond question the finest, most effective, and in many cases least appreciated, philanthropic association in the country. Its great research work has not only made it possible to return light where darkness formerly prevailed, but what is of far greater importance, the prevention of the worst of all maladies—blindness."

No New Year's resolution could have spurred to greater activity than this unsolicited recognition of unceasing efforts to prevent needless blindness. Hampered though the Committee was by lack of a Field Secretary, it felt encouraged to redouble its activities and the results of the year's undertaking have proved, we trust, not unworthy of the confidence expressed.

CONSERVATION OF VISION CLASSES

A decade ago classes for conserving the sight of pupils were unknown in America. The idea that special methods of education and adequate equipment are necessary for children suffering from eye defects and diseases has been slow in taking definite form in the minds of many educators; but it is now a recognized fact that sight-saving classes have demonstrated their right to exist and have come to stay. Any system of education that fails to provide for this group of handicapped children is falling short of standard requirements.

SIXTH ANNUAL REPORT OF THE NATIONAL COMMITTEE

Classes have now been established in the following centers:

State	City	No. of Classes
Connecticut . . . . .	Hartford	1
Illinois . . . . .	Chicago	1
Massachusetts . . . . .	Boston	6
	Brockton	1
	Cambridge	1
	Charlestown	1
	Chelsea	1
	Fall River	1
	Lowell	1
	Lynn	1
	New Bedford	2
	Salem	1
	Worcester	2
Michigan . . . . .	Detroit	4
	Grand Rapids	3
	Jackson	1
Minnesota . . . . .	Duluth	1
	Minneapolis	2
	St. Paul	1
New York . . . . .	Albany	1
	Buffalo	1
	New York	22
	Rochester	2
	Syracuse	1
Ohio . . . . .	Alliance	1
	Ashtabula	1
	Cincinnati	5
	Cleveland	10
	Lorain	1
	Mansfield	1
	Norwalk	1
	Toledo	1
Pennsylvania . . . . .	Pittsburgh	1
	Philadelphia	3
Washington . . . . .	Seattle	1
Wisconsin . . . . .	Milwaukee	5
	Racine	1

By no means do all these classes measure up to standard. In many instances lighting conditions, both natural and artificial (especially the latter), have not been given due consideration; rooms ill suited to the purpose are used as makeshifts; proper seats and desks have not been installed, and the purse-strings have been so tightly tied that even the most necessary equipment has been denied. Poorly trained teachers and lack of helpful supervision add to the difficulty.

It is, however, of great inspiration to turn to those cities and states that have gone into the problem with the thoroughness it deserves and are not demanding the toll of educational brick without supplying the necessary straw. Such classes are paying for themselves in results, and it is encouraging to note that their number is steadily increasing.

An especially interesting development of the movement is the establishment in Detroit, Michigan, under most favorable conditions, of the first high school conservation of vision class. Students taking advantage of its opportunities are not only experiencing no difficulty in holding their own, but are winning honors.

To meet the rapidly increasing demand for trained teachers and supervisors, an epoch marking step has been taken in the establishment, by the Department of Education of Harvard University, of a special course of preparation for those desirous of fitting themselves for work with the blind or with partially sighted children. The course opened most auspiciously with 77 students in attendance. It augurs well for the advance of the movement under the most approved methods. Educators interested in all branches of the work are conducting lectures and holding practical demonstrations.

The recognition of the necessity of such a course by its establishment is a solution of a very great problem; that is, however, a phase of the work still unprovided for. Many teachers devoting themselves to this service realize the need of greater efficiency, yet cannot take advantage of this opportunity because the course is offered only during the school year. It is earnestly hoped that a summer course may be arranged to meet their special needs.

The Manual for Conservation of Vision Classes issued a year ago is fulfilling its functions as a handbook to be used in establishing and maintaining sight-saving classes. A new edition will soon be necessary; the secretary will appreciate from all interested in the work suggestions that will increase the usefulness of this publication.

PREVENTION WORK BEING DONE BY STATE COMMISSIONS AND LOCAL ASSOCIATIONS FOR THE BLIND

No organization interested in the welfare of the blind, be it state or local in scope, feels that it is rendering full service unless a part of its energy is devoted to preventing a repetition of the tragedies of needless blindness that it almost daily encounters.

During the past year unusual efforts have been made in this direction, and, at the request of several organizations, the Secretary has drawn up a plan of preventive work that may be undertaken in whole or in part by each local unit. Two new state commissions established during the year, the Virginia Commission for the Blind and the Oklahoma Commission for the Adult Blind, are deviating from the usual custom of inaugurating work for the blind and later giving attention to the preventive aspect; they are developing these activities side by side.

ESTABLISHMENT OF EYE CLINICS IN THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS

For some years New York has stood as an isolated example of a city having eye clinics in the public school system. The fact that the eye defects of 8,789 children were corrected in one year by refraction and glasses should be a sufficient warrant for such clinics; in addition, however, treatment has been given to large numbers of school children suffering from such eye diseases as trachoma, acute conjunctivitis, interstitial keratitis, phlyctenular keratitis, blepharitis, etc. Not only have epidemics of communicable eye diseases been prevented in school communities, but such relief has been given that many children are able to continue their education who could not otherwise do so.

It is of special interest to report that in 1920 Minneapolis followed the example set by New York. The eye clinic established there May 3, 1920, is the result of cooperative effort between the Board of Education and the Minneapolis Women's Club. The Board of Education equipped the clinic and is contributing the services of one of its most efficient school nurses; the Women's Club is bearing the expenses of operating the clinic.

The Secretary from time to time receives requests for suggestions of practical sight-saving that a woman's club may undertake; Minneapolis has certainly given a very definite answer.

OPHTHALMIA NEONATORUM

The Committee has been interested to note for some time past that the percentage of children in day classes for the blind who are there because of blindness from ophthalmia neonatorum is far larger than that in schools for the blind. An investigation of this matter revealed the fact that in all day classes for the blind the statistics are based upon the results of examination of the eyes of each pupil by an eye specialist, whereas in institutions for the blind the statistics are sometimes based on the testimony of the parent, who, either through ignorance of the real cause or through desire to withhold it, gives misleading information. An examination by an eye specialist often reveals unsuspected corneal scars due to this disease, both in children who have lost their sight and in those suffering from defective vision. It is not, therefore, surprising that many schools for the blind that have but recently been able to finance and arrange for thorough eye examinations show a decided increase in such percentages. This should be taken into consideration in reviewing the following table; the results should in no way be construed to mean an increase in the prevalence of this disease. Not only has the occurrence of the malady been greatly reduced by wise legislation and education, but when it does develop, laws requiring reporting and treatment have infinitely lessened the possibility of blindness.

Massachusetts contributes a quite noteworthy account of this subject. A very careful survey of the state shows that out of a population of 3,693,310 inhabitants, there are 3,698 blind persons, of whom but 53 are under five years of age. Of these 53 children, only 9 are blind as a result of ophthalmia neonatorum.

This is indeed an enviable record; yet the fact that even in the span of five years 9 children have become blind from a preventable and curable disease should spur to greater efforts.

For many years Ohio has done leading work in preventing blindness from ophthalmia neonatorum. Her method of having a supervising nurse whose efforts are devoted wholly to this work commends itself by its excellent results. Such nurse must of necessity be absolutely familiar with her resources throughout the state, especially in rural districts, and a plan of cooperation must be worked out to that last detail of efficiency of which Ohio has given such excellent example.

WOOD ALCOHOL POISONING

The problems of wood alcohol poisoning are by no means new to a committee that has devoted much time and energy to both the industrial and the individual aspects of the menace. During the past year, however, the attention of the public has been directed as never before to the results of wood alcohol poisoning in concrete form. Hardly a day has gone by without recording deaths and blindness from this poison as a result of ignorance or wilful defiance of law. Reports of 615 deaths have come to the Committee: wherever possible these have been verified. The Committee realizes, however, that this number does not even approximate a correct reckoning of the toll, first because many states do not require in their death certificates a specification of the cause of poisoning, and second because the real cause of death is often camouflaged under the name of some other malady from which the deceased may have been suffering.

Concerning the amount of blindness and deterioration of sight caused by this poison, the Committee cannot even venture a guess. Some few sufferers who survive later find their way to the outstretched hand of associations for the blind, but many pay the toll in silence.

The present status of the question is summed up by Dr. Ward Holden, an authority on the subject:

"The warning that the public has received, together with the present status of the wood alcohol industry, seems to guarantee us against any great amount of wood alcohol poisoning in the immediate future.

"The favorable features as regards the industry are three in number:

"1. The refiners of wood alcohol have changed its name and now designate all grades as METHANOL.

"2. The restriction in forestry operations has cut down the supply of wood alcohol, while the demands for wood alcohol products in agriculture, moving-picture films, dye industries, and the like, have been greatly increased, both here and abroad, thus raising the price to $1.80 a gallon.

"The legitimate industries in the future will take the entire output, leaving none to be scattered in small lots, as in the past, in pharmacies and paint-shops.

"Denatured grain alcohol, which costs but 60 cents a gallon, one-third the present price of wood alcohol, will soon entirely take the place of wood alcohol for use by the general public.

"3. Because of the scarcity of wood alcohol the Federal Government now requires, in the production of denatured grain alcohol, the addition of but 2 per cent. of wood alcohol as compared with the 10 per cent. required before January 1, 1920. And it is likely that, following the lead of European countries, the Government will soon permit the use of a lower grade of refined wood alcohol, which is less toxic and also more nauseating than the grade now required. Hence the danger from denatured alcohol is greatly lessened.

"In regard to legislation, we have gone slowly, knowing that any bill that hurts the refiner will be blocked by him, and any bill that hurts the other industries will be blocked by them. Further Federal legislation may prove to be necessary, but it should be very carefully considered from every point of view, and no Federal supervision should be urged that will appreciably discourage industries and increase the cost of living, which Federal supervision invariably does, unless we can be quite sure that it is not needless, and that it will diminish materially the prevalence of wood alcohol poisoning in the future."

This is a hopeful outlook; the Committee can add to it only an urgent appeal for intensive education presented in form to reach even the most ignorant.

TRACHOMA

It fell to the lot of Kentucky, through acute suffering, to be the first state to recognize the menace of trachoma in our midst. For many years she has been waging a winning fight against this scourge that had almost overpowered her mountain population. She it was who called the attention of the Federal Government to the danger of the spread of trachoma and induced the establishment of Federal clinics to prevent a country-wide epidemic. During these years many states have viewed the conflict in Kentucky with interest, but with a feeling of immunity. The great war, however, turned the searelight of investigation into unsuspected channels, and several states awoke with a start to find that this most unwelcome visitor had stolen upon them in their sleep. Other states, already cognizant of the presence of the intruder, renewed their efforts against the common foe. Florida, Illinois, Missouri, Nebraska, North Dakota, Ohio, South Carolina, Tennessee and Wyoming have been valiantly marshaling their forces into line. Surveys of whole school districts have been made, showing alarming conditions in many instances. The Federal Government has been quick to respond to calls for help, and national, state, county, city, town and village welfare organizations are cooperating in making surveys and establishing clinics.

Great care is being taken to secure a correct diagnosis. In its early stages follicular conjunctivitis is sometimes mistaken for trachoma. If there is the slightest doubt of the existence of true trachoma, the trouble is diagnosed as suspected trachoma and the patient is observed for developments; this is a very wise precaution to follow, because of the form of treatment to be administered, the possibility of spreading the disease, and the effect upon the community should cases be erroneously reported trachoma.

SLIDES AND EXHIBITS

The demand for the Committee's posters on Babies' Sore Eyes and Industrial Eye Accidents is steadily increasing. A new photographic exhibit on conservation of vision classes has been prepared for limited circulation, and has been in constant use at child welfare and general health demonstrations.

In places where apparatus for showing motion pictures is available, these are replacing to large extent stereopticon slides. Doubtless there will always be a demand for the latter, and the Committee's large collection will be kept up to date. To meet the growing need, however, it has been decided to present some of the Committee's activities in motion pictures under the title "Saving the Eyes of Youth." The scenario for the first reel has been prepared, and arrangements made for its production. An excellent educational film, "Through Life's Windows," has generously been made available for the Committee's use, and has proved very effective in showing the structure of the eye and the effect of lenses upon rays of light entering the eye.

THE NEWS LETTER

The mailing list has increased so rapidly that The News Letter now requires an edition of 6,000 copies.

On account of the very high cost of paper and printing, the Committee has changed its methods of sending out new publications. Heretofore a copy of each publication issued was sent to every subscriber and to everyone on the free mailing list. It was found, however, that those interested in some phases of the work were not interested in others and that much waste of material was thus incurred. By the new method announcement is made in The News Letter, which goes to everyone on the mailing list, of each new publication issued with a request that those interested send for a copy.

LECTURES

Lecture work was greatly curtailed during the first half of the year because the Committee was without a Field Secretary. During the year 53 lectures have been given, reaching audiences approximating 8,617. These lectures included all phases of the Committee's work from the story talks prepared to interest little children to technical papers given by eye specialists. Great enthusiasm has been displayed by noon audiences in factories; that workers are willing to devote a part of their lunch and rest period to the consideration of health subjects augurs well for the decrease of accidents in the industries. Lectures included a wide territory: Illinois, Louisiana, Maryland, Massachusetts, Michigan, Missouri, New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania and Virginia.

NEW LEGISLATION

Little legislation along preventive lines was enacted during the past year; many of the states contemplating legislative action are among those in which sessions are held biennially in the odd numbered years. Three important measures were enacted either as statute laws or as regulations of the state board of health.

The Delaware State Board of Health adopted regulations governing the practice of midwifery; these require the licensing of midwives, licenses to be issued only upon a signed statement from a licensed physician that the applicant is qualified for her work.

Kentucky established a Bureau of Trachoma and Blindness as a Department of the State Board of Health, carrying an appropriation of $7,500.

Maryland passed a bill, effective June 1, 1920, prohibiting the use of the common towel in public places. The State Board of Health was given full power to establish regulations for its enforcement.

CLEVELAND PLAN

One of the most comprehensive health surveys undertaken by any community has this year been carried out by the Hospital and Health Survey of Cleveland. The National Committee for the Prevention of Blindness was requested to submit recommendations for a model plan for sight saving. The Secretary prepared such plan, which has been published in the report of the Hospital and Health Survey.

REPRESENTATION

The Secretary represented the Committee at the National Conference of Social Work held in New Orleans April 14-21, at various state and local conferences, and at the Health and Sanitation Exposition held in Chicago November 24-29.

Over two hundred thousand people attended the Exposition. Health talks were given every afternoon and evening in the auditorium and round table talks were held for more intimate discussion of special subjects.

The National Committee for the Prevention of Blindness co-operated with the Illinois Society for the Prevention of Blindness in arranging exhibits and giving lectures. One of the exhibits that attracted the greatest attention was the continuous showing, by an automatic machine, of a series of slides. Thousands of people stopped to see the pictures and read the explanations; the majority remained for the entire series and many returned a second and even a third time. The film, "Through Life's Windows," was shown at afternoon and evening sessions in the auditorium.

ORGANIZATION WORK

The time and energies of the Secretary are being occupied more and more by that very important phase of sight-saving which deals with initiating activities in organizations already established or about to be established. She is in constant communication, either personal or by correspondence, with those individuals or associations desirous either of taking up such activities or of strengthening a work of which the foundations have been laid.

COOPERATION

Since the principle upon which the work of the Committee is based is cooperation, it is hardly necessary to mention the many organizations in the United States, Canada, Mexico, England, France, Russia, Italy, Switzerland, India and China with which work has been carried on. The activities of the Red Cross, national, state, county and local, along preventive lines has been most noteworthy, and the Committee has been glad to aid in suggesting methods, arranging for lectures and supplying material.

PROGNOSIS

The Secretary feels that no forward looking report would be complete without a repetition of the urgent plea that as a regular part of medical school inspection, the eyes of all children entering school be examined by an eye specialist. The financial outlay would soon be counterbalanced by the decrease in the number of those requiring special education. The benefit to the children is beyond computation; it will reach out to future generations.

Submitted this thirty-first day of December, 1920.

WINIFRED HATHAWAY,
Secretary.

REPORT OF THE FIELD SECRETARY

MR. EDWARD M. VAN CLEVE, Managing Director,
National Committee for the Prevention of Blindness, Inc.

Dear Sir: This report will necessarily be brief, since your Field Secretary did not assume the duties of his office until about the middle of June, 1920; and, as the work was new to him, the greater part of the summer was spent in familiarizing himself with that part of the National Committee's program which had been given him to carry out, and also in research and study.

FIELD TRIPS

Missouri.—Upon the urgent request of Mrs. Anna F. Harris, the Executive Secretary of the Missouri Commission for the Blind, an intensive and extensive educational campaign was planned and carried out in Southern Missouri by your Field Secretary. Your former Field Secretary, Mr. Gordon L. Berry, had lectured in a number of towns in Missouri to awaken popular sentiment in favor of legislation requiring the compulsory use of a prophylactic in the eyes of all children at birth. While this law was considered very favorably by the Missouri Legislature of 1919, it failed to receive a constitutional majority. Thus, further work was required in order to create a greater sentiment in favor of legislation to prevent blindness from Ophthalmia Neonatorum. A bill has been prepared, and will be presented to the next Missouri Legislature, which convenes January, 1921.

A series of illustrated lectures was given in the following cities and towns: Cape Girardeau, Charleston, Poplar Bluffs, Kennett, West Plains, Monnett, Neosho, and Sedalia. While in Missouri, your Field Secretary attended the following conventions: The American Child Hygiene Association, at St. Louis; the American Academy of Ophthalmology and Oto-Laryngology, at Kansas City; and the Missouri State Welfare Association, at Sedalia.

SIXTH ANNUAL REPORT OF THE NATIONAL COMMITTEE

Iowa.—After the Missouri campaign, your Field Secretary spent several weeks in Iowa, making an extensive campaign, having personal interviews with Senators and Representatives as to the necessity of a law in Iowa to prevent blindness from Ophthalmia Neonatorum. In 1919 in Iowa, a campaign similar to the one in Missouri had been carried out, and a bill proposed requiring the compulsory use of a prophylactic in the eyes of all children at birth. This bill passed the Senate by a majority of 33 to 10, but failed in the House, owing to a sect of people who are opposed to the use of medicines.

A bill has been drafted by Dr. Guilford H. Sumner, Secretary of the Iowa State Board of Health, and Attorney-General Gibson, and will be presented in both Houses of the Iowa Legislature, which convenes January, 1921.

In both Missouri and Iowa the press in general has published articles written by your Field Secretary advocating the necessity of a law in these states requiring the early reporting of all cases of Ophthalmia Neonatorum, and the use of a prophylactic in the eyes of all newly born infants. Your Committee has also sent a personal letter to the Senators and Representatives in these states, and also special literature which has been prepared by the Committee. Your Field Secretary will spend some time in these two states in the interest of the above-mentioned legislation.

Respectfully submitted,

GEORGE D. EATON,
Field Secretary.

REPORT OF THE NEW YORK STATE COMMITTEE FOR THE PREVENTION OF BLINDNESS

A STANDING COMMITTEE OF THE NATIONAL COMMITTEE FOR THE PREVENTION OF BLINDNESS

JANUARY 1 TO DECEMBER 31, 1920

The New York State Committee for the Prevention of Blindness has issued its report covering the work of the past two years. In this are reviewed the activities carried on in cooperation with the national organization.

The question is sometimes asked whether the work of the New York State Committee for Prevention of Blindness does not overlap that of other organizations and individuals.

The Committee realizes that case work is one of the fundamentals of sight saving; the function of the Committee, however, is educational; hence it leaves the consideration of individuals to those within whose province such activities lie, and expends its efforts wholly along its own particular line of work. In a democracy there must always be some motive power that creates public opinion and stimulates a desire for better conditions. Such a motive power must stand back of the activities for individual betterment, recognizing that the public is made up of individuals and that the strength of the whole is dependent upon the units of which it is formed.

One of the cardinal principles, therefore, of the Committee is the elimination of duplication of effort by cooperation with every other organization interested in kindred public welfare work. We find hands stretched out in every direction ready to cooperate with us to their fullest extent.

During the past two years the important cooperation of the following organizations should be especially mentioned: The

SIXTH ANNUAL REPORT OF THE NATIONAL COMMITTEE

New York State Commission for the Blind, the New York Association for the Blind, the Albany Association for the Blind, The Tri-County Association for the Blind, the Henry Street Settlement, University of the State of New York, Atlantic Division of the Red Cross, New York County Chapter of the Red Cross, the Boards of Education of Albany, Cohoes, Glens Falls, New York City and Syracuse, the Council of Jewish Women. Boards of Health throughout the state have proved most helpful and physicians and nurses everywhere are ready to give of their time and energy to "carry on." The New York State Committee for the Prevention of Blindness feels its efforts multiplied indeed by this army of efficient and willing co-workers, and trusts that its own cooperative spirit brings something of inspiration to all interested in working together for better mental and physical vision.
